The constitution was unanimously adopted, after which a recess was taken till 3 o'clock.
The first business in order after recess was the calling of States for the selection of Vice-Presidents and the members of mocracy, gave us the Monroe doctrine and the Floridas with their beautiful magnolia graves and orange blossoms; that Jackson, another beacon light in the pathway of Democracy, the hero of the battle of New Orienns, by his iron hand and indomitable will struck down that hydra-headed monster of monopolists and corruption, the United States Bank and all its branches. It should be borne in mind that Democratic adopted mild appliage and cheers. The rule in Ireland. The resolution was adopted amid applause and cheers. The Committee on Resolutions was then called upon and the chairman reported that the majority of telegrand with soon to a time to time have contested with the Democratic party for public favor. The Democratic party is as broad as the country, was and is founded upon the Constitution of the Union, the respecter of the right and opinions of the people of whatever nationality; a believer in home rule here as well as abroad, and will and must live so long as constitutional government shall endure.

Assembled here, as we are, in national convention, we can ratify the nomination of Cleveland and that grand old Roman, the idol of the people—Thurman—as well as provide for the decent interment of the Chicago platform and its candidates, framed and selected by corporate dictation.

A COLORED EDITOR SPEAKS.

The Committee on Resolutions submitted its report, which was adopted.

H. A. Booth, of Ohio, then introduced R. A. Jones (colored), editor of the Cleveland Globe. Mr. Jones was rescived with great applause. He said that the face of the colored man was used as a badge by the Republican party, and that he was here to advocate emancipation. By that he meant to restrain those Republicans who would steal the country and put it in the pockets of one or two men. Mr. Jones then presented to the convention a gavel made from Pittsburgh, July 5.—At 5 o'clock presented at minority report dissenting this evening an accident occurred at the Union refinery, this city, that in all probability will result in the death of two boys. It seems that a gasoline still sprang a leak and the contents drained slowly into a sewer that empties into Corn Planter Run, a short distance below the works. The gasoline soon covered the surface of the stream for a distance of 500 feet, passing under four railroad tracks and the highway. In some manner, the inflammable stuff was ignited and in an instant the surface was a mass of flame, which quickly ran back to the mouth of the sewer, where it was held in check.

Two boys named Callis were playing near or in the river at the time and both were horribly burned. The elder, aged about fifteen years, was burned almost to a crisp, the flesh hanging in shreds from his limbs. His clothing was entirely burned from his body. Death is momentarily expected. and Defeat Mr. Kenna for the United States Senate.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—There is a state of unpleasant feeling among the Democrats of the Third Congressional District of West Virginia, which may have some effect on the election of the Legislature which is to choose a successor to Senator Kenna. Representative Snyder, of Kanawha county, is in his third term and is without following for nomination for a fourth, but complaint has been made that Kanawha has one United States Senator, the Governor, several State officers and a big share of United States appointments, and it has been urged that some other county ought to have the Congressman from the Third District. It is hinted that the interests of Senator Kenna reconsulted when has the necessary number of delegates to nominate him, with a startling prospect that there will be open rebellion in the party against him. He has captured nearly every county delegation by chang ing the method of selecting delegates.

Insufficient notice has been given of county conventions, and many delegates have been chosen by township meetings, Alderson having obtained control of the party organizations and departed from the usual methods. It is represented

Not togo into further particulars, these were the methods, according to information received in Washington, by which Alderson has taken possession of the machine. Colonel St. Clair, a man with a large following, withdrew from the race and declared he would not support Alderson, and the Democratic Convention of Fayette county has adopted resolutions to the same purpose. But the measures which were promptly adopted caused their rapid subsidence, and reaction oc-curred much more promptly than after any previous attack. This, however, was only a temporary inconvenience. The advanttemperance, Francis Murphy, will take the stump this fall for Harrison and Morton. He will make his opening speeches in Indiana, where the Murphys are personally popular, and is expected to do effective service for the Republican ticket. The elder Murphy will probably take no part in the campaign, though his sympathies as a man are with the Republicans.
